

This End
Could Be the Least of Your Worries.

Commercial products and homemade concoctions might resolve the odor, but they have no power against the rabies virus. Skunks, raccoons, bats and foxes account for the majority of rabies cases in the U.S., and can pose a significant risk to your clients, their families and their pets.

World Rabies Day is September 28.

Take this opportunity to talk to your veterinarian about this deadly, yet preventable, zoonotic disease.
